The Eastern Kentucky University Interpreter Outreach Program presents

Preparing for the new NIC Performance Exam: Is it as Simple as 1…2…3??

Linda Bozeman
Saturday, March 30, 2013 9:00 – 3:30 PM
Registration begins at 8:30 am - Limited to 35 Participants

Rauch Center Conference Room 215 East Spring Street, New Albany IN

Professional Development Session: You enter the testing room, the red light blinks, the camera starts, and then what?? What are the demands? What is expected next? This workshop will prepare the practicing interpreter for the newly revised NIC performance test. Each participant will learn the application process, review the test domains and interview rubric and become acquainted with test site layout. Session will give participants an overview of test format, opportunities to respond to ethical dilemmas and interpreting situations as they may appear on the exam as well as an understanding of the interpreting demands of the performance segment. Participants will engage in small group discussion as they provide feedback to other participants in a safe environment.

The Presenter: Linda Bozeman is a member of the EKU faculty and coordinator of the Outreach Team where she organizes a variety of workshops across Kentucky. She has served in a variety of leadership positions at both the state and regional levels over her 30-year interpreting career. Most recently she served as the acting chair of the KY Board of Interpreters (KBI) advisory committee. She has served RID as the Region III rep and also as RID Region III Delegate to the Interpreters in Educational and Instructional Settings (IEIS) member section and as a local test administrator. She is a past recipient of the Carrie Mosley Distinguished Service Award and the KYRID President’s Award.

The Rauch Center contact person is Dave Calvert – dcalvert@rauchinc.org or phone 812-542-3076 if you need directions or get lost.
